TERM	DEFINITION
	to urban stormwater management. Instead of conveying and managing/treating stormwater in large, costly end-of-pipe facilities located at the bottom of drainage areas, LID addresses stormwater through small, cost-effective landscape features located at the local level. It works with nature to manage stormwater as close to its source as possible, employing principles such as preserving and recreating natural landscape features, minimizing effective imperviousness to create functional and appealing site drainage that treat stormwater as a resource rather than a waste product. For example by reducing the rate of runoff and through grass swales removing contamination, we can reduce erosion flooding downstream and pollution of waterways. This also reduces visual impacts such as concrete channels and enhancing natural waterways. Sources: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- http://www.lid-stormwater.net/background.htm#What_is_LID</li> <li>- http://www.epa.gov/owow/nps/lid#guide</li> <li>- 'Low Impact Development Design Strategy', Prince George's County, Maryland, Department of Environmental Resources Programs and Planning Division June 1999.</li> </ul>
