Important Information

Plans can only be supplied if Council has a record. Council may not have plans for all properties. No refunds will be given if Council has no records available as the research has been undertaken. The information obtained will be available 2 working days after the application is received, not including weekends and public holidays. Council does not warrant the accuracy of the information supplied and disclaims all liability whatsoever for any error, inaccuracy, or incompleteness of the information. No person should rely on this information without seeking independent professional advice. If further information is required, the applicant should apply for a Land Information Memorandum (LIM). This search may identify buildings on the property that have been constructed without a building consent. If this is the case our compliance team will be notified and may enforce the relevant statutory provision against the owner, which could include an infringement fine or prosecution. Any purchaser of the property inherits the legal non-compliance issues of a property when they take ownership and as a result could be liable for the infringement fine or prosecution.

FAQ

What do I get for my research fee?

The Gisborne District Council was formed in 1989 following the amalgamation of the Gisborne City, Cook County, Waikohu County and Waiapu County Councils. These Councils stored their records in different formats. To research your request a Council Officer will search any combination of: electronic databases, microfilm records, hardcopy records (if available), and various historic registers. Note: Cook County records pre-1948 were destroyed in a fire. The Gisborne District Council cannot prove whether a Building Consent or Permit was or was not issued for any given property before this date. The results of this property search will not include any information about Compliance Schedules or Earthquake Prone Buildings and will not be circulated to any other department within the Gisborne District Council. For further information regarding this property, Council strongly recommends that the applicant applies for a LIM, which provides a more in-depth report about the subject property.
