Matt,

We have received further correspondence from BHC which included a significant number of calculations which tried to justify the building as it is.

We have reviewed this information and have issued our response which raises a number of areas where we disagree with BHC's assertions and highlights a number of errors in the submitted calculations.

In short, we remain sure that our initial conclusions (as peer reviewed) are correct and the BHC response does not alter this.

It may well be that BHC will try and respond further but I will be sure to inform you the moment this happens.

Attached to this email are full copies of the additional information received from BHC and our response for your information.

Please do not hesitate to contact either myself or Guy if you have any queries or wish to discuss matters further.

Regards,

Graeme.
