Re: Submission in support of the Eastland Port's application upgrade and expand the port

To whom this may concern,

As a young man born and raised in the Tairawhiti who had some exposure to the outside world, I see a region that is hamstrung and crippled. I won't stand by and watch this unfold or let this region deteriorate anymore. I urge those tasked with the decision-making powers on this matter to think about the long-term health of Te Tairawhiti and all its people, those present and those to come.

One in four families in Tairawhiti are fed from the forestry industry and enabling this project would mean these families can sleep well at night. Strengthened families, means stronger communities.

Our region has huge potential, but it is restricted because of the access to the outside world. Limited access means limited growth.

The land transport infrastructure connecting this region is extremely vulnerable. Which means we need to have a meaningful and resilient port in the region to keep the economy going and growing.

Economic prosperity is crucial in the fight against poverty, domestic violence and all the other negative impacts on society. Social and cultural well being in this region is intrinsically woven into the economic fabric of this region. Thus, if the economy is restricted then so to is the cultural and social wellbeing.

There is more science and technology now than ever before which means the impact on the environment is calculated and significantly mitigated.

I don't want to be a part of a generation of Tairawhiti people who have neglected their responsibility to ensure the future generations aren't left as we are, to fix issues that should have been done years ago. What will our future generations say when we are gone?

I look forward to an opportunity to speak at the hearing.
